Dear Mr. McMahon:

Congratulations on your appointment as Deputy Director of Central Intelligence. I look forward to the Intelligence Community's continued cooperation with Treasury, on which we have come to rely.

I also wish to respond to a letter of June 10 from Admiral Inman on the possibility of funding the Treasury Office of Intelligence Support (OIS) from an Intelligence Community appropriation. Foster Collins tells me you are familiar with the background of this proposal.

I am, of course, disappointed that it is not possible to handle the funding in such a way as to leave the positions and their incumbents as Treasury employees. We have been attempting to develop OIS as a part of Treasury, rather than as an outside element. I am afraid it would become known and treated as an office of CIA under your first option.

The alternative option, assigning non-reimbursable detailees to OIS as may be needed, appears to be more practical. We already have several precedents for this, as you know. I also hope you can continue to assist us with equipment to permit Treasury to participate in the Intelligence Community's communications and ADP networks.

Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

R. T. McNamar
